GIBB'S FARM Naturalists Lead new Forest Walk and Safari Experience Karatu, Tanzania -- February 3, 2007 -- Guests return again and again to GIBB'S FARM because there you can get out of your safari car, stretch your aching legs and go for a nice long walk or bike ride in the forest. Walking at GIBB'S FARM just got more exciting with the new Ngorongoro Forest Walk, a mild to strenuous 2-hour walk that covers the best of GIBB'S FARM's 90 acre Forest Estate.

Guided by a GIBB'S FARM naturalist, the walk is both informative and exhilarating. Walkers will seek elusive birds and animals; relax in the quiet power of the forest waterfall; wander the endless coffee fields; and experience a bit of farm life and local culture. It is a fantastic walk for birders: many of the Farm's 225 bird species are likely to be seen along the way.

The new walk is great for birders
